

College of Education and Human Ecology

GRADUATE EDUCATION ADMISSION INFORMATION 2009 – 2010

The College of Education and Human Ecology offers graduate programs in three schools; the School of Teaching and Learning (T&L), the School of Educational Policy and Leadership (Ed P&L), and the School of Physical Activity & Educational Services (PAES). Within each of these schools there are specializations.

Please note: (1) The M.Ed. degree leads to initial teacher licensure; (2) TOEFL, MELAB, and IELTS are tests of English for non-native English speakers. Unless higher scores are required below, all specializations require the following minimum scores: TOEFL: 550 paper, 213 computer; 79 IBT, MELAB: 82, and IELTS: 7. (3) Unless otherwise noted (see T&L), all admission quarters and application deadlines refer to the Columbus Campus. Select your specialization/graduate program from the list provided in the “Graduate Study Plans” section of the online application. Make certain that your specialization is offered the Quarter you expect to begin your studies. The College of Education and Human Ecology offers scholarships see <http://ehe.ohio-state.edu/academics/scholarship.php> for criteria. (A separate application is required). Submit all application materials prior to the financial aid deadlines listed below to be considered for admission and financial aid.
